Hacienda Guzmán

Services provided for m&i

Activity - The ultimate olive oil experience at Hacienda Guzmán

Company description

More than six centuries ago, Hernando, son of explorer Christopher Columbus, exported olive oil produced in Hacienda Guzmán to America, making it one of the largest olive oil factories in the world. Nowadays, visiting the mill from the seventeenth century and the Museum of Carriages is like travelling through time, contrasting with the oil press where the HG extra virgin olive oil is made. In addition, the property also houses the 'olivoteca', a collection with more than 150 varieties of olive trees from 13 countries. Visits to the Hacienda Guzmán are managed by the Juan Ramón Guillén Foundation, a non-profit organization created with the aim of driving the development of the Andalusian olive industry and promoting the declaration of Andalusian olive grove as a World Heritage Site.
